Test Training Guide

This is the start of my test asciidoc guide.

Here's a cheat sheet on asciidoc formatting: <https://powerman.name/doc/asciidoc>

And here's a nice writer's guide: <https://asciidoctor.org/docs/asciidoc-writers-guide>

Examples of using the host and ping commands:

$ host curry
curry.cs.swarthmore.edu has address 130.58.68.36
curry.cs.swarthmore.edu mail is handled by 0 cs.swarthmore.edu.

$ host 130.58.68.36
36.68.58.130.in-addr.arpa domain name pointer curry.cs.swarthmore.edu.

$ host www.swarthmore.edu
www.swarthmore.edu has address 130.58.11.25

$ ping www.swarthmore.edu
PING www.swarthmore.edu (130.58.11.25) 56(84) bytes of data.
64 bytes from www.swarthmore.edu (130.58.11.25): icmp_seq=1 ttl=252 time=1.39 ms
64 bytes from www.swarthmore.edu (130.58.11.25): icmp_seq=2 ttl=252 time=1.54 ms
64 bytes from www.swarthmore.edu (130.58.11.25): icmp_seq=3 ttl=252 time=1.47 ms
^C
--- www.swarthmore.edu ping statistics --- 3 packets transmitted, 3 received, 0% packet loss, time 2003ms
rtt min/avg/max/mdev = 1.399/1.475/1.548/0.060 ms

gitTest7 — this one after GHE reboot fixed the port range???

- commit 1 at 10-03-2020—0705

"Curly is taking both butter and honey."

"Nibs is speaking with his mouth full."

"I complain of the twins."

"I complain of Curly."

"I complain of Nibs."

"Oh dear, oh dear," cried Wendy, "I'm sure I sometimes think that spinsters are to be envied."

She told them to clear away, and sat down to her work-basket, a heavy load of stockings and every knee with a hole in it as usual.

I really don't understand this at all....
